LITTLE SILVER — Turning Point Restaurants, known throughout New Jersey for their award-winning breakfast, brunch and lunch, recently hosted a weekend fundraiser that raised $24,000 to benefit the LADACIN Network.

The Turning Point locations in Brick, Long Branch, Little Silver, Holmdel, Manalapan, Ocean, Old Bridge, Sea Girt, and two locations in Toms River participated in the "Eat, Drink and Be Caring ...Serving the Mission of LADACIN Network" event, held Sept. 26 and 27. Despite the challenges of a Nor'easter, LADACIN said this year's event raised more than $24,000 in support of LADACIN'S educational, therapeutic, social, residential and support services for individuals with disabilities. The success of this fundraiser is a true reflection of the dedication and generosity of owners Kirk and Pam Ruoff and their entire team, LADACIN officials said. Turning Point's longstanding commitment to giving back and supporting organizations throughout the community has helped raise awareness of LADACIN Network and its mission. Through their enthusiastic promotion of the fundraiser and personal connection with their patrons, they helped bring the community together in support of LADACIN and the individuals with disabilities they serve.

During the two-day fundraiser, in exchange for donations of $25 or more to LADACIN, Turning Point offered guests a complimentary voucher for two entrées on a future visit. One hundred percent of the customer donations went directly to the LADACIN Network.

About the LADACIN Network

LADACIN Network provides a continuum of care, including educational, therapeutic, social, residential and support services to infants, children and adults with complex physical and developmental disabilities or delays, including child care and pre-school, early intervention, school programs, adult day programs, vocational training, supported employment, residential options, and respite programs.

Today, LADACIN serves more than 3,500 individuals and families in 15 locations throughout Monmouth and Ocean counties.
